

Participant information

The program that you are about to participate in is to use a public speaking training system to help you to improve your presentation. Meanwhile, it is a study to investigate the user experience of the public speaking training system by researchers of the Interactive Intelligence group.

As the e-coach of the system help you to improve your presentation, please prepare for your specific topic before you come to this program, and your presentation is expected to be more than 10 minutes long.

The coaching program consists of four sessions.

In the first three sessions, you will use the public speaking training system in each session, in which you will get training and feedback on your presentations. After the training part of each session, you need to follow some instructions to practice your presentation.

In the last session, you will give your presentation in front of two experimenters.

In all sessions, you will be asked to fill in some questionnaires on your thought about the system and your feeling during the training.

When practicing, you may need to answer some questions asked by the system. Your answer will be audio recorded for further analysis. To ensure the audio to be unidentifiable by others, the audio will be deleted within one hour after the training session. Additionally, supervisors only have the access to the anonymous data.

You will receive a report after each session so that you can reflect on the feedback you have been given from the coach. As you may still need to work on your presentation, you can only attend one session in a day.

Information for available dates, please visit Presentation Calendar. Send an email to sign up.

Good research practice requires that you give us “written informed consent” to include in this study. Specifically, we require that you understand and agree to the following:

- Your participation is completely voluntary.
- You can withdraw at any point without having to offer any explanation to us.
- Your data will be stored in an encrypted mode on a server which is only accessible to the experiment leader(s), and will only be made public in anonymous format. Your data will be destroyed at your request.
- You may expect to be treated with respect and dignity at all times.
- We have informed you of the purpose and on all the practicalities of the program with the information in participant information. You feel that you have been given the opportunity to ask any question you want and that we have provided you with adequate answers to make your decision on whether to participate or not.

I understand and agree with the terms above, and I agree to take part in this study.
